

Gov. Dean Presents Kiwanis Charter

160 ENJOY BANQUET AND PROGRAM

It was a splendid representation of the business and professional men of several northern Michigan cities in attendance at the "Charter Night" banquet and program presented by the Kiwanis Club of Grayling Wednesday night. They were to witness the presentation of Grayling club's official charter by District Governor Ben Dean of Grand Rapids.

The affair was held in the banquet room of the beautiful Michelson Memorial church. Rows of tables with their white table covers and silver were adorned with pots of yellow cut flowers and sweet peas. Yellow was the color scheme and was carried out quite in full. Napkins of yellow paper crepe and nut and candy cups of similar material made the banquet tables setting very attractive.

It was a fine looking group of men and women that entered the dining room. Before being seated the assembly sang one verse of America. Frank Sales, Kiwanian song leader, led in the singing while Mrs. Mae Rund of Traverse City presided at the piano. Invocation was given by Rev. Zoller of Michelson Memorial church.

The banquet was served by the Ladies Aid of the church and the serving of delicious roast chicken and all the good things that go with such a dinner were enjoyed by all. Kiwanian songs were sung by the assembly at intervals during the banquet.

Dr. Clarence G. Clippert, president of the Grayling club, extended a warm welcome to the visiting Kiwanians and their ladies, and introduced the toastmaster, T. P. Peterson. The latter said that he didn't intend to take up valuable time with stories and wise cracks and started the program.

Kiwanians from the following places were present: Traverse City, West Branch, Petoskey, Gaylord, Cheboygan, Mt. Pleasant and other places. Presidents and members and ladies of the several clubs were introduced. Traverse City had the largest attendance with 32 present; West Branch second with 30; Gaylord 19; Cheboygan 4; Petoskey 6, Mt. Pleasant 3; Vanderbilt 1; Bay City 1.

Among the speakers were Albert B. Clement, president of the Traverse City club, which club is the sponsor of the Grayling club; Judge A. E. Butterfield, Midland; H. Carl Spitzer, divisional lieutenant governor, Petoskey; Forney Clement, Michigan district governor, Ann Arbor; Ben Dean, Michigan district governor, Grand Rapids.

Michigan district secretary Forney Clement gave a resume of the work that is being done by the Kiwanis club of Ann Arbor, principal of which is the sponsoring of the recreational and entertainment work among the crippled children in Ann Arbor university hospital. He cited a number of methods for raising money for these purposes.

Governor Ben Dean gave a masterful address in his presentation of the charter to Grayling club. He said he had a special pride in Grayling since it was the first club formed in Michigan in 1935. He gave an outline of the aims and missions of Kiwanis and high purposes for which Kiwanis stands. Kiwanis, he said, is a group of men united in a common effort for their community. There are 2023 Kiwanis clubs in the U. S. and Canada, 50 of which are in Michigan. He is opposed to Kiwanis as a luncheon club, rather it be a service club where members meet for the fellowship it affords. Clubs should not become clique and their doors should always be open for worthy new members. Increased service and not self advertising should be the aim of every club. He told of the many helpful ways for helping a community. Because of the work of Kiwanis clubs they have passed successfully thru 20 years of bloodshed, money madness and world-wide poverty. Cities that would otherwise have been in gloom have been restored to progress and thousands of underprivileged children have been helped. If all the crippled children who have been helped by Kiwanis clubs could pass in double line it would require 16 days and nights for them to pass a single point.

There are over 3000 Kiwanians in Michigan who, like those of other states, have taken up the responsibility of uplift in his community. He gave a resume of what Michigan clubs have done during the past year. He closed his address by quoting from one of Bruce Barton's classics and presenting Dr. Clippert, president of Grayling club, with its charter.

The latter replied by accepting it on behalf of the members of the Grayling club. Upon request he gave an outline of the forming of the Grayling club. He expressed his appreciation for the splendid attendance by members from other clubs, and for their assistance in helping to bring Kiwanis to Grayling.

Preliminary to the program telegrams of congratulation and well-wishes from International officers, and one from King Gillett who organized the Grayling club were read.

The Traverse City club is the sponsor of Grayling club and as a token of Kiwanian fellowship presented Grayling club with a Kiwanian gong for use at its meetings. This is of bronze and nicely engraved with the names of the donors and benefactors and dates of presentation. Acknowledgment of this gift was made by president Clippert.

Not a small part of the pleasures of the evening was contributed by the Kiwanian quartet of Traverse City who rendered a number of enjoyable songs. Ange Lorenze, well known musical composer of West Branch, pleased the crowd by some novelty piano and vocal numbers, among them being his popular composition "Sleepy Time Gal."

West Branch club that is being sponsored by Grayling club will hold its charter night April 8th and their invitation to attend will be gladly accepted by Grayling members and their ladies.

To Beautify Taft Highway

A permanent organization will function this spring to begin beautification of the 220 mile strip of U.S.-27 running between St. Johns and Cheboygan.

Delegates from more than a score of clubs scattered along the route elected Registrar C. C. Barnes as president and Professor Myron A. Cobb as secretary, both members of the Central State Teachers college faculty. A vice-president will be chosen from each cooperating organization.

At the Taft highway beautification conference staged March 15 in connection with fourth annual conservation day at Central State R. E. Palmer pledged the cooperation of the state highway department. He told of the proposed planting of trees along state-owned lands (in cooperation with the conservation department), and of plans for the development of small parks around roadside springs along U. S.-27.

"The varying climatic conditions and topography need to be taken into consideration in planning," pointed out Professor H. O. Whitmore, of the University of Michigan. "Whereas Norway pine and spruce might logically be planted in most of the northern part of the route, for the rich farming land south of Clare it would perhaps be out of place. Trees, shrubbery and flowers should fit logically into their background."

Other speakers at this conference were: Mrs. J. Sweetnam, Manistee; V. Gunther, Ann Arbor; Al Weber, editor of the Cheboygan Observer; R. J. Martin of Bay City, secretary of the East Michigan Tourist association; and Professor Cobb.

Pleading for a "restoration of the pristine beauty of Michigan of the 'fifties'" Dr. Preston Bradley, national president of the Isaac Walton league and pastor of the People's church of Chicago, spoke on the fourth annual conservation day program at Central State Teachers college March 15.

"When great corporations dammed the streams, leveled the forests and destroyed the out-of-doors beauty, we disturbed the balance of nature—and man must be penalized. Where does any industry get the right to pollute the streams of Michigan?" Dr. Bradley, who as a youth lived in Michigan, addressed the closing evening meeting which drew more than eight hundred into the auditorium.

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of conservation in Michigan, predicted that nearly one-third of Michigan's 37,000,000 acres is non-agricultural and headed for government ownership. "I believe that we will realize more financial returns out of these 12,000,000 acres as producers of wild life and game than we would attempting to force them back to agriculture."

Jack Van Coevering, of the Detroit Free Press staff, recommended that "sportsmen and sentimentalists unite against the common enemy of indifference." He too protested against oil and brine seepage, asserting "wild life has moved out of the rivers of the Saginaw valley."

Two hundred and forty attended an evening banquet. Elaborate displays of hundreds of Indian relics, classified by William Hunter of Rosebush, were another feature of the day.

Grayling was represented at the meeting by Mrs. Frank Barnett, Miss Elizabeth Ann Kraus, Donald Charron and Sam Gust.

The union ticket is headed by Sydney Dyer for supervisor, with John Floeter for clerk, Porter Boyce for highway commissioner, Ora Billman for justice, full term; Otto Sube for justice to fill vacancy, and Elmer Head and Joe J. Royce for members of board of review. The republican ticket is as follows: Supervisor, Henry F. Scott; clerk, George B. Miller; treasurer, Hazel Stephens; highway commissioner, John J. McGillis.

Legion Jottings

The American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps had a large turnout last Monday evening and sure got a real drill. The Corps is putting forth every moment they have to getting in shape to serve the people of this city. The average person, and even some of our comrades do not realize what a good drum and bugle corps means to a community. In order to realize the value a person has to attend some gathering where there are several corps in formation on parade. We are striving to make this one of the best if not the best in the entire state. Our instructors, Harold (Spike) McNeven and Julius Paul, are considered very efficient in drilling, both having had several years experience in this work.

We are planning on having a minstrel show within the next few weeks and a committee has been assigned to look after the minor details. As we have heard several say, "What's the Drum and Bugle Corps going to do next?" Watch us and see what's going to happen.

Our home coming committees are pepping up their plans as it is not so many weeks before the big event will take place and there is plenty of work for all Legionnaires to do, and if you don't believe it, get in touch with may give you something to keep Comrade Clarence Johnson. He may give you something to keep you on the job.

Would you believe it! Yes, it is true. We will play on Decoration Day on our city streets and march to the cemetery. Some have asked if we will be able to play a piece by that time. Well, we will let you decide that when the time comes.

Well, some of the "Buddies" are not waiting for the bonus before joining the Legion and are coming in nearly every meeting. If any comrades want to learn to play instruments, register with the quartermaster of the Drum & Bugle Corps and we will help you out as soon as we can. We have our Corps all signed up now for the 25 pieces but will, if we Jump in Buddy and help your local Post put Grayling on the map in heavy type. Boost until it hurts then boost some more. Let's go out and make this a lively city this year and other years to follow.

It depends on the success of our Bugle and Drum Corps parties and the home coming in July if we will be able to attend our state and national conventions in uniform. So everyone get busy. Our state convention is held in Flint and our national at St. Louis, Mo. What a trip for Grayling people to see their own Bugle and Drum Corps coming down the streets of either of these fine cities on parade.

We want to try and have our Legion Auxiliary in uniform and have them on parade with us also in the future. We are just starting to build up a real band.

What Childrens Fund Is Doing

KEEP THIS INSTITUTION IN GRAYLING

Five years ago last November 1st a health department was organized including the counties of Crawford, Roscommon, Kalkaska and Missaukee. This was sponsored by the Children's Fund of Michigan (Cousen's Fund). The staff included a doctor, dentist, sanitary inspector and three nurses and the district office was located in Grayling at the high school. The office was opened in a hurry and work begun with few people in the district knowing or understanding just what it was all about. There has been a lot of questioning done since as to the work of each member and how the Unit was run.

In December 1933 the health office was moved into the building with the Welfare and also they share half of this building they are in no way connected with the Welfare office.

There has been a question in the minds of many people as to where the funds come from for the expense of this Unit. The Children's Fund of Michigan appropriates $14,930 a year and the state $3,000. Up until September 1933 the state did not give any money to this Unit. At this same time each county in the district was asked to contribute $100 apiece per year to aid in this work, making a total of $400.

It should be thoroughly understood that the doctor connected with this health department does not practice medicine. Then the question comes up as to what his work is. There are 127 schools in the four counties and all of these children from the first to the eighth grade included are given thorough examinations by the doctor. Their lungs, heart, teeth, ears, etc., are checked up on. Many ailments that might prove serious if allowed to run, are discovered by the doctor and the parents advised. The children are vaccinated and given diphtheria antitoxin free of charge. Last year 115 children in the district had a free X-ray to check up on or determine the condition of their lungs. If these had not been given some of these cases would have run on and developed into tuberculosis. Checked in the beginning and there generally is no serious results.

The nurses in the district make home calls to expectant mothers, babies, preschool and school children. They have been a great help in homes where finances are limited. A chart is kept in the office of every baby, preschool and school child as well as one on expectant mothers. With the help of these charts the nurse is able to keep in close touch with the individual. She visits the schools and checks up on the children by way of a physical inspection. This is not an examination. Each nurse has a child welfare committee that meets with her and they have proved to be of valuable assistance.

The sanitary inspector checks up on the district's milk supply to see if it is safe for your family to use. Typhoid germs lurk in milk and by a constant check-up on the dairies and producing plants an epidemic may be avoided. Each school's supply of water is checked to see if it is safe for the child to use. If analysis show contamination a new water supply must be installed.

If we did not have anything in our health department but our dentist it would still be valuable. Up until this year he has spent 3 months in each county. This year he will spend 4 in Missaukee, 4 in Kalkaska, 2 in Roscommon and 2 in Crawford. There has been some question as to who is eligible to dental work in the Children's Fund. Our dentist has nothing to say about the eligibility of a child. The dental list is checked in each county by people who are in a position to know what children are financially unable to have work done by a private dentist.

The children who have work done by the Fund's dentist have a thorough examination. The work includes fillings, extractions and prophylactic treatments. If we did not have this excellent service many children would be allowed to go on badly in need of dental work. Our dentist is in Crawford county and his equipment is set up at the Grayling school.

We again expect the ophthalmologist (eye doctor) in our midst soon and this is another service that is rendered by the health department. Last year several

Mt. Pleasant Beats Traverse In Finals

The fourth annual Lumberjack Independent Basketball tournament, staged here on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week, was a fast and thrilling spectacle. Among the teams participating were: Mt. Pleasant, Roscommon, Alpena, Traverse City, Gaylord, West Branch, Grayling Cubs, C.C.C. 674, C.C.C. 672, and the Grayling Lumberjacks, sponsors of the tournament.

At the last minute, C.C.C. Company 672 was quarantined, forcing their team to forfeit and giving the Roscommon team (Ramblers) the advantage of a bye in the first round.

Cubs-Gaylord
In the opening tilt, Thursday night, the Grayling Cubs met Gaylord, to win out by a four-point margin (28-32). This game was very fast and hard fought, while it lasted. Altho the Grayling team kept in the clear, the Gaylord team had a tendency to over-guard, and when they lost three men via the four-foul route, (Continued on last page) hundred pairs of glasses were distributed to children unable to have work done privately. The doctor is a specialist in her line and the children get the best of attention. When the glasses are broken they are sent in and repaired free of charge. To those who are able to pay for glasses a small charge of $3.00 is made for the glasses and a very small amount for repairs. However if they are financially unable the glasses and repairs are free.

We have had some successful clinics in this community and they prove of great value to the mother. Free literature to those desiring same is distributed from the district office. Biologies are distributed free of charge to all doctors in our district.

Summing everything together, is this not a valuable asset to a community? Surely it has been to ours. Crawford county has benefited by this service and we feel it would be a great loss to us should we lose it. Lake City, situated in Missaukee county, has asked for the district office to be moved there and are trying very hard to get it. Are we going to let this be moved from our district when it has meant so much to us? Surely it must be of great value when another city is making every effort to get it. We must not forget that Grayling has benefited by it outside of the services rendered. Three families will go from this town if the office goes and we feel that Grayling can not afford to lose them. What are we going to do about it?

HIMSELF TO BLAME

Frank A. Picard, former liquor control czar and unsuccessful candidate for the United States Senate, is proving very disappointing to his friends these days. It is not a display of statesmanship or fair play to find him in violent criticism of Governor Fitzgerald's suggestion that whenever practical and profitable sale of hard liquor should be diverted into private channels. The governor has had other more important things to think about since the beginning of the year, but it is safe to presume that with the legislature out of the way he will find himself in a position to take keen observation of state activities. It would have been much better taste for Mr. Picard to have waited a reasonable length of time before voicing his displeasure.

Like most defeated candidates for office Mr. Picard is not confining his word thrusts solely to the opposition, but is charging leaders in his own party being responsible for bringing about his defeat last November. His position is hardly tenable in view of what happened. At the beginning of the campaign he announced that he was the fair-haired boy who was going to ride the Roosevelt special to Washington, only to find when the train was safely away from the station that his opponent was occupying an entire suite in the rear pullman. "Picard Hoisted by His Own Petard!" ran newspaper headlines that brought about his downfall.

Let it in fairness be said of Mr. Picard that in setting up the liquor control structure he rendered the state a distinct service. To witness him belittling that service now because of petty jealousies is far from illuminating. Starting from zero he organized a liquor dispensing system that has been a model for other states. He fought off the chislers and grafters during that critical formative period, and above everything else, he kept it honest, as a recently completed audit of his regime reveals. That will be something in the book to be remembered in his favor provided he decides in time that after all the Liquor Control Commission is no longer his child needing his parental love and solicitude.—Fred D. Keister.

OF A SORT

The whole propaganda of the New Dealers, with its sweeping denunciations and exaggerations, has been preparing the soil and sowing the seed which the shrewd Huey proposes to harvest. They have all been exploiting envy, hatred, and malice and building power for themselves while pretending a zeal for the unfortunate. Huey has a simpler prescription and all the wiles of an Indian medicine vender. The New Dealers use longer words and more complicated formulas, but in the long run they come to the same thing. Huey wants a capital levy and the brain trusters spoke their condemnation of the profit motive and sang the requiem of capitalism in various keys until it became bad politics. Long weeps over the millions he says are starving, naked, and roofless in this land of plenty. Ickes has painted a picture of the American past as an economic of truth. Coughlin, while declaring devotion to the President, is trying to destroy the President's closest advisers and principal aides and, while professing the Christian spirit, has been declaring reckless condemnations against the individuals he has selected for scapegoats and spreading an unreasonable hatred as far as his radio can carry his influence. His remedies, Huey's remedies, the Roosevelt-brain trust remedies differ little in the spirit in which they have been concocted or in the ultimate consequences that spirit will bring forth.—Chicago Tribune.

Life is a tryant that pushes us blindfolded down a dusty lane. Nor do we know whence we come or what shall lie for us at the end of the road. Yet all the time we must go forward: for in truth it is not possible that one should turn back.—Monk Gibbon.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS

Every year about this time basketball draws its last dying breath for the season—with an inter-class tournament. The tournament began last Monday and will close Wednesday night. The usual struggle to be the winning team is even stronger this year since the purchase of the new trophy. Each class contributed purchase of it and it will be a permanent addition to the trophy case. At present it hovers between the Senior and Junior classes and the battle to take place Wednesday will determine which class has the honor of first possessing the new prize. An admittance fee of $.01 is drawing a large crowd of student spectators.

Miss Berry who recently directed the Senior play, is hard at work this week choosing the cast for the Junior's presentation of "Girl-Shy." Competition in so large a class is unusually strong and it may be necessary to choose a first and second cast. However, the amateur actors to take part in this play will be chosen sometime this week and official announcement of the choice will be ready for this column soon.

During the week of March 25-29 the paintings of the old masters will be on display on the balcony in the school gymnasium. These reproductions of famous paintings are large, colorful portraits, landscapes, still-life studies and of various other types and subjects. This art exhibit is open to the general public and while it is not a money making proposition it is required that a small admittance fee—$.10 be charged. The proceeds of the event are to be used for transportation of the pictures to another school and also for purchasing at least one painting for the high school.

The exhibit will be open during school hours only, and it will be worth the time spent to see it.

For several past seasons a league of Class C schools operated in relation to high school athletic competition. The "Little 6" or the "Top of Michigan" conference was a pretty stiff circuit as far as strength and keen rivalry are concerned. It had been allowed to die out of late, and the annual trophy was no longer awarded for football and basketball, but an effort is being made to revive the organization on a new basis.

To this end a meeting was held in Petoskey during the Regional tournament with representatives present from Charlevoix, Manistowish, Harbor Springs, Boyne City, East Jordan, Rogers City, Gaylord and Grayling. Coach Willard Cornell represented Grayling and took part in the discussion. A committee was chosen to go to work on reorganizing the league, consisting of Coach Brotherton of Boyne City, Coach Abe Cohen of East Jordan, and Mr. Cornell of Grayling.

Although Grayling has put no football eleven on the field we could compete in basketball in the league, and if we copped the championship would have a trophy to show for it. Each school would have to play a certain number of league games. Grayling already has six and could add more if schedules could be made to fit. It is possible that some new teams will be seen on the local floor next year in actual league play. This is a step in the right direction and makes the tournament of less importance than the season. Which is as it should be.

DOG BITES

Last week three children were badly bitten by a mad dog running at large in an adjoining county.

Now if a dog travelling near the county line of Roscommon has scattered hydrophobia about the community, a stray dog could do likewise here. It is a known fact that Grayling has more dogs running the streets than any other village of its size. This is based on comments made in eating places, people and tourists passing thru the city. Also upon personal observation of various people permanently located here. It is high time that some action be taken to safeguard the public.

In case of all dog bites call your doctor at once. If hydrophobia is suspected the patient should receive the Pasteur Treatment. Hydrophobia is the most serious danger in dog bites; it is very important to catch the dog and keep confined for observation. Do not kill the dog. If the dog remains well for fourteen days, it probably is not mad, and there is no danger from the wound except that of the more ordinary kinds of infection. If the dog has been killed, however, cut off the head, pack in ice and send by express to the nearest State Medical Laboratory for examination.

The Wildcats came back strong after their defeat of last week at the hands of the Businessmen by a 12-11 score by defeating the Masons this week, 9-6. Meanwhile the Chiefs were hitting on the long end of a 16-2 count. With the defeat of the Businessmen, the Wildcats are leading the pack again.

Broadbent pitching for the Chiefs, allowing but four hits, was the highlight twirling performer of the evening. Cornell and Wheeler were on the mound for the Businessmen. The Chiefs tallied thirteen runs in the sixth frame to clinch victory for them. The Wildcats still in the hitting mood, touched "Fat" Smith who made his initial debut in the box for the Masons, for nine runs. The Masons were held runless until the sixth, when they made two runs and in the seventh tallied the other four runs off from pitching of Gthoro.

Next Tuesday the Chiefs and the Wildcats will battle in the opener and this promises to be a "battle royal" as the Chiefs are determined to hand them a setback in this half. Should the Chiefs win and the Businessmen win next week it will result in a tie between the Wildcats and the Businessmen. Anybody wishing to see some of these fast teams in action are invited. The Spanish Main Cartagena (correctly pronounced Kar-ta-hay-na, accent on the third syllable), the South American city, was at one time the most important city on the Spanish Main, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. In this connection it should be remembered that "Main" is merely a contraction of "mainland" and is improperly applied to the Caribbean sea in such expressions as "all the Spanish Main." The original use of the term was to distinguish the Spanish possessions on the northern coast of the South American mainland from the insular possessions of Spain in the Caribbean sea.

MOTOR LAW OFFENSES ON FILE IN LANSING

Motorists of the state may be largely unaware of the fact that the Secretary of State is building up a central file of records of all convictions of violation of motor vehicle laws, which will be invaluable in the future for ascertaining a quick picture of the record of every driver in Michigan.

Any person who has been involved in a serious accident, or who has been convicted of any offense resulting from the ownership, use, maintenance or operation of a motor vehicle, will find his name "flagged" in this file. The value of the information thus gathered has been proven within recent months. The cooperation of the Department of Public Safety has been enlisted in this work. While it is mandatory that justices of the peace and clerks of municipal and circuit courts forward to the Department of State records of all such convictions, Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, seeks continued cooperation of all judicial officials in this respect.

Prosecution of Harry Gonte, Detroit, on the charge of having solicited and collected fees for the filing in of applications for automobile license plates for car owners, has begun by the Department of State. Gonte allegedly established an office in Detroit, near a branch office of the department of state; complaints of his alleged activities have been received from owners who believed the fees allegedly collected by Gonte, were actually being collected for the state. The alleged offense is a violation of Act 281 of the 1931 statutes; the Gonte case is the first prosecution under this act. He was brought to trial March 12, and was granted an adjournment for a brief time.

Coleman C. Vaughn, director of the Building and Loan division has found that the condition of building and loan associations has been materially bettered by transfer by them of many distressed accounts to the federal government, in exchange for Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds. The pending action of Congress to appropriate approximately $1,500,000,000 more to H. O. L. C., will find continued reflection in relief in the situation, Vaughn believes. Cancellation of withdrawal applications and gradual moving of real estate has also been noted in the records of the division.

TASTY FOODS

A GOOD baked ham that is rich in color, juicy and tender, is a main dish which is extremely popular.

Baked Ham.
Soak the ham in cold water overnight. Pour off this water and cover with water to which has been added two cups of sugar and three-fourths of a cup of vinegar to a 12-pound ham. Simmer gently until well done, which will require 25 minutes to the pound, counting the time after the water simmers. Do not boil, as that toughens the meat. Let the ham cool in its own liquor. This adds to the moisture as well as flavor. When cold skin the ham, rub with brown sugar and dry mustard and stick with cloves. Put into a hot oven to brown nicely.

Stuffed Pork Tenderloin.
Slit the tenderloin the entire length. Brush the meat with salt, pepper, and a cut clove of garlic. In the cavity place parboiled carrot and celery of equal amounts. Wrap up and skewer or tie. Place in a baking dish to roast with layers of sliced onions and apples. Baste during the roasting and serve the onions and apples around the meat.

Luncheon Croquettes.
Take one cup of chopped cooked beef, one cup of canned corn, one-half cup of bread crumbs, one beaten egg and a little cream, if more moisture is needed. Make into croquettes after seasoning well, roll in crumbs, in egg, then crumbs and fry in deep fat.
Cream cheese softened with cream to the consistency for spreading to which a dozen of chopped candied cherries are added, makes most luscious sandwich filling.

WELDING HUDSON STEEL ROOF

Although we have heard of "all-steel" bodies for some time, this is the first year that such a thing exists, because previously even in the so-called steel bodies the center of the roof was made of soft material. In the Hudson-built cars for 1935, which of course includes the Terraplane, there is not a single stick of wood used for structural purposes. The bottom, sides, front, rear and top are of solid steel, with the exception of the windows, the passengers are surrounded by metal in every direction. Yet, it is pointed out, the tremendous safety is secured without sacrifice of alloy, since occasional experts have dumped out every available vibration and even greater quietness has been achieved than in previous bodies. The Terraplane shows the welding operation which makes the panel at the corner of the roof a unit part of the body structure.

THE BOLDNESS OF TERROR THE GOSHAWK

For peace and safety pray beware, And never take a foolish dare.

NEVER in his life had Reddy Fox felt more uncomfortable than he did as he stole up through the Old Orchard toward Farmer Brown's henyard in broad daylight. Terror the Goshawk had dared him to visit the henyard and steal a hen while Farmer Brown was about. All the way there Reddy hoped that Farmer Brown would not be about. He hoped that no one would be about. He wished with all his heart that he had kept his tongue still when he had met Terror, and so have avoided this unpleasant scrape.

The truth is, Reddy didn't dare visit that henyard when Farmer Brown or Farmer Brown's boy was about. He knew that he wouldn't dare go beyond the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard if he should find that anyone was near that henyard. So he hoped and hoped that when he got there the way would be clear, for he knew that Terror the Goshawk was sitting in the top of a tall tree where he could watch all that went on.

When Reddy reached the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard and peeped over, his heart sank, for Farmer Brown himself was in the henyard feeding the hens. Reddy stopped right where he was. Nothing could have induced him to go a step nearer. "Anyway," muttered Reddy to himself, "Terror won't dare go any nearer, and so we'll be even. No one would dare visit that henyard and steal a hen right under Farmer Brown's nose. No one is bold enough to do a thing like that."

Reddy looked back to where Terror the Goshawk was sitting. Suddenly Terror spread his great wings and shot out from that tree straight toward Reddy. Reddy could not but admire the speed with which he flew. Straight over the Old Orchard he came, and swooping down just above Reddy's head, he cried, "Coward!" and then shot up into the air and over Farmer Brown's henyard. There he made a little circle and then shot down like a thunderbolt, seizing a hen in his great claws only a few feet from where Farmer Brown was standing. Before Farmer Brown could move he was in the air again carrying away that fat hen. Farmer Brown yelled. All the hens screamed and raced for the henhouse. Terror paid no attention either to Farmer Brown or the frightened hens. Once more he flew low just over Reddy's head and once more cried, "Coward!" then swiftly disappeared over in the Green Forest. He had made good his dare.

As for Reddy Fox, he sneaked away toward the Old Pasture. In his heart he admired the boldness of Terror the Goshawk, but he hated him more than ever, and that hate grew as he thought of the fine breakfast Terror was enjoying while he himself could find nothing to put in his empty stomach.

ROSCOMMON COUNTY HAS MOST SPORTSMEN

Wayne county may have the largest population, but to Roscommon county in the north central part of the lower peninsula goes the honor of having the greatest percentage of sportsmen in Michigan.

Of the 83 counties in the state Roscommon ranks high in the proportion of hunters and fishermen who purchased licenses, to the population. Wayne county is lowest.

These facts are brought out in a compilation of hunting and fishing licenses made by the Department of Conservation. The census figures and license reports for 1930 were used.

The compilation shows that the number of trout fishermen who purchased licenses in Roscommon county for that year equals 75 percent of the county's population; small-game hunters, 43.1 percent and deer hunters, 42.5 percent.

Wayne county with its population of nearly 2,000,000 persons, had the following percentages: Small-game licenses, 2.6 percent; deer licenses, 0.3 percent; trout licenses, 0.05 percent.

Some of the figures obtained in the compilation follow: Highest number of small-game licenses issued in the state: Wayne county, 49,491; deer licenses, Wayne county, 6,276; trout licenses, 7,785; smallest number of small-game licenses issued: Oscoda county, 370; deer licenses, Lake county, 34; trout licenses, Sanilac county, 19.

Michigan's census of 1930 showed a population of 4,842,325. Of this number 332,848 or 6.87 percent of the residents, bought small-game hunting licenses; 75,854 or 1.57 percent deer licenses and 81,562 or 1.68 percent trout licenses.

Sally and the family were worn out. For some reason or other the carrot refused to go down the "little red lane." In desperation Daddy tried a new game, taking a bite for the train, a bite for the uncles, the aunts, in fact, for the entire relationship.

"Now, who'll this be for?"

"Oh, you take it for yourself, Daddy."

Sport in Fishing

A racing man challenged his friend to go out fishing for an hour, each to pay the other a pound for every catch.

Sport was bad, and the challenger produced a small turbot, his only catch, and was handed a pound note.

The other then produced a plaice, and was handed five shillings.

"Here, what's this?" he asked. "That's all right," explained the racing man. "It's only a quarter of the odds for a plaice."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

President's Proposal to Eliminate Utility Holding Companies Brings Storm of Criticism—Treasury Seeks to Simplify Nation's Currency Structure.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

THE President's special message calling for abolition of utility holding companies stirred up a storm that probably surprised even such an astute politician as Mr. Roosevelt. The President urged legislation to abolish those holding companies which were unable to show they were operated in the public interest.

Senator Norris

Representative Bertrand H. Snell, Republican leader, immediately attacked the message, claiming the President had denounced propaganda against the proposed legislation, and was himself propagandizing for it. Utility companies also swung into the battle, and thousands of investors in utility stocks are reported to have sent in protests to congress. In the senate, Norris, Nebraska Republican, offered a resolution calling upon the federal trade commission to investigate propaganda regarding the legislation. The senate approved without debate. Charges were made by utility companies that because of the administration's campaign against public utilities "the value of utility securities has declined by three and one-half billion dollars since 1933." Enactment of legislation to halt holding companies will cause enormous loss to the American family, one power official testified before the house-interstate commerce committee.

GREECE is mopping up the loose ends of the revolt. Some fighting is reported near the Bulgarian border where one regiment, part of the rebellious Fourth army corps, has declined to surrender, but the revolution is definitely over. Eleutherios Venizelos, ex-premier, and leader of the futile revolt, was reported a refugee at Rhodes, the tiny island where Julius Caesar was interned by pirates some 2,500 years ago. Venizelos was transferred there by the Italian government after he had been landed in Italy by one of the rebel warships. Gen. George Karmenos, rebel commander, is safe in Bulgaria, where officials have refused extradition. Rebel prisoners are being concentrated in camps, and courts martial are functioning in Saloniki, Kavala and Larissa, and military trials have begun in Athens. It is believed that only a few of the most flagrant rebels will suffer the death penalty. Venizelos is almost certain to be court-martialed in absentia, and banished forever. His elaborate home in Athens, and his valuable library have already been confiscated and will likely be converted to public use. Italy has refused to extradite him, although it is possible that new demands will be made by the Greek government, who will claim that he took funds from a bank in Crete. Unless he is surrendered, he will probably move to Paris where his two sons now reside.

THE senate snatched down Senator Huey Long for his filibustering tactics and his efforts to amend the administration's $4,850,000,000 work relief measure. The Kingfish had demanded alterations in the work relief bill which would take $100,000,000 away from the $500,000,000 earmarked for CCC work and allot it to students in colleges and universities. Long's amendment was defeated by a vote of 58 to 27. To prove that old adage of "politics makes strange bedfellows," Long was aided by Senator William Johnson of California, who declared that the senate should have something to say about methods for spending the huge sum sought by the President. Johnson has heretofore been considered a supporter of the President. Long's amendment brought forth other proposed changes which should keep the senators busy arguing for several days. The bonus bill may be dragged in and an attempt made to make it a rider to the relief measure, and inflationists and leaders of other "ists" will insist on having their say.

ALL outstanding first Liberty loan bonds have been called for redemption by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. The $2,000,000,000 outstanding has been called for June 15, before which time the treasury will likely offer lower interest-bearing securities in exchange for the first Liberties, saving the government some $14,000,000 in annual interest charges.

NEW Deal policies took two more batterings as Federal courts held both the AAA and NRA unconstitutional as regards intrastate business. The administration might find some consolation in another ruling which held the radical Frazier

Lemke farm mortgage bill was valid. Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis, at Kansas City, declared the Frazier-Lemke law was constitutional, "although unwieldy in many of its provisions and almost incomprehensible matter." Judge Otis said his ruling was not the first in which the act was upheld, and that an appeal was already before the United States Supreme court and a decision might be expected shortly. The AAA was declared invalid as regards intrastate business by Federal Judge Ira Lloyd Letts at Providence, R. I., who issued an injunction restraining Secretary of Agriculture Wallace from enforcing the act against three Rhode Island retail milk dealers, on the grounds that their business was conducted entirely within the state, and the national government had no right to interfere. At Newark, N. J., Federal Judge Guy L. Fike ruled the national recovery act unconstitutional as applied to intrastate commerce "because it attempts an unlawful delegation of legislative authority." The latter decision agrees with that handed down by Federal Judge Nichols in the controversial Weirton steel dispute.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY MORGENTHAU

revealed plans to dip into profits from gold seizure to retire $674,625,630 of the national debt through the use of gold certificates. Potentially inflationary, it will deprive national banks of the power to issue currency, and save the government an annual interest charge of $13,500,000. Questions on inflationary implications were avoided by the treasury officials, but they admitted the plan would "put gold back to work which can be expanded."

The maneuver will place in the hands of the federal reserve banks $674,625,630 of gold certificates, which must be used as backing for issue of the same sum in federal reserve notes to retire the bonds. Note issue against the bonds could be expanded if currency demands warranted, to about $1,687,500,000, since a federal reserve note need not be backed by more than 40 per cent of gold or gold certificates in like percentage. What will happen will be the immediate simplification of our currency system. The treasury and federal reserve banks will have all the authority to issue money. The plan involves retirement on August 1 of $674,625,630 of 2 per cent federal reserve notes and substitution of federal reserve notes for $657,937,080 of outstanding national bank currency. These bonds will be retired with surplus funds created by devaluing the Roosevelt dollar from 100 cents to 59.06 cents gold. The total profit was $2,812,000,000.

National bank notes issued by national banks against federal securities represent more than one-tenth of the nation's circulating currency. The administration's program likely means the permanent abandonment of the national bank note which has been used since the Civil war. The circulation privileges expire on all bonds deposited by banks and held in trust by the treasury on July 22, 1935, except on two issues. By calling for redemption, the treasury will retire all securities bearing "circulation privileges" and national banks will no longer have suitable security for issuance of their own notes.

COMPLETE collapse of the administration's long battle to regulate prices in the steel industry is seen in an NRA offer to give up, and in charges by the federal trade commission of a facade of collusion. The trade commission insists that price-fixing be scrapped, and no prosecution of steel companies under the anti-trust laws. The trade commission charges that under the code the steel companies have fixed and raised prices on government contract, in defiance of competitive bidding requirements. Bids were identical, and then steel executives slapped fines of $10 a ton on members who let the government have steel cheaper, the commission says.

DR. ANTON RINTFELN, former Austrian minister to Italy, has been sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the Nazi putsch of last summer. Rintfelen was the man who was announced over the radio as the "new chancellor" at almost the same moment Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was assassinated. The defendant denied the charges of high treason, but admitted he was in sympathy with a policy of reconciliation with Germany.

THE house appropriations committee favorably reported out the Department of Agriculture appropriations bill for the 1936 fiscal year. A cut of $618,878,768 was due largely to a $411,022,428 slash in the AAA item. The total bill calls for $668,278,768, of which $570,000,000 would go to the Agriculture Adjustment administration activities. At committee hearings it was explained that it is impossible to estimate how much would have to be obligated because of the crop control program, but the AAA item was a rough estimate of processing tax collections and is not controlling. Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, told the committee that the farmers' share of the national income is now about 10.2 per cent, and that it should be 13 to 16 per cent.

Wallace said "true prosperity" cannot come "until there has been a very material increase in the output of physical goods, industrial goods."

"If in some way it were possible to turn out 50 per cent more industrial goods at a price definitely lower than the present price," the secretary testified, "the result would be to make it possible for agricultural to buy more with the agricultural dollar and there would be more factory workers to be fed in the cities."

EVEN though the senate will not act immediately on the "pink slip" bill to repeal income tax publicity, income tax figures will not be available to the public for six months, according to internal revenue officials. While it is likely the act will be repealed, the house having so voted, it is not anticipated that the senate will act on the measure for some time. Even though the latter might not act favorably, there remains considerable work to be done before the figures can be made public, and income tax payers may be confident that prying neighbors cannot have immediate access to such information. In the senate a drive has been started for higher federal income and corporation taxes. Senator LaFollette offered an amendment proposing a new scale of income taxes to yield $280,000,000.

FRENCH courts have formally indicted 19 persons, including Mrs. Stavisky, for the Stavisky scandal that rocked the government after the financial debacle, which caused losses of millions of francs to investors, had broken. Stavisky, known as "Handsome Alex," died from a gunshot wound as police tried to arrest him in January, 1934.

CHANCELLOR ADOLPH HITLER'S "diplomatic" cold is over, and he will welcome Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, to a conference beginning March 24. Accompanying Sir John will be Capt. Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, and disarmament authority. After the Berlin visit Eden will go to Moscow to talk with Soviet leaders. The Berlin conferences will discuss legalization of Germany's rearmament in exchange for an air Locrano pact with Great Britain, France, Italy, and Belgium, and an eastern security pact with Poland and Russia. Limitation of armaments by all nations will also be taken up. The visit is complicated by a recent announcement that Germany possesses military aviation in violation of the Versailles treaty. Because of this, France may invoke the Rome accord with Italy and Franco-British declaration at London in support of its move to keep the reich from giving the air force official sanction.

AFTER twenty months of bargaining, the documents conveying full title to the Chinese Eastern railway to Manchukuo were initiated in Tokyo, thus eliminating Russia as a factor in Manchukuo. The written approval of the agreements was signed by Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister; Dr. Constantine Yureneff, Soviet ambassador to Japan; and by Gen. Ting Shih-Yuan, Manchukuoan minister of finance. The consideration was 140,000,000 yen, or about $39,300,000. The documents require that all three governments approve them before their formal signing about March 23. Thus is ended forty years of Russo-Japanese contention.

SAMUEL INSULL, former utilities czar, was acquitted in a Chicago criminal court of charge of embezzling $66,000 from the treasury of one of his former companies to use in supporting a brokerage account by his brother, Martin Insull was "delighted," since it probably is the end of the Insull prosecutions, although another charge of embezzling $104,000 is pending. Further, Insull faces a charge of violating the federal bankruptcy laws, but it is believed that the verdict in the criminal court will discourage efforts to try him.

THREE Illinois farmers refused to tell the government census takers how much their farms were worth and how heavily they were mortgaged, claiming such information was none of the government's business. The trio were arrested and held for a grand jury, charged with violating the census act.

TOWERMEN AND FIRE WARDENS GO ON DUTY APRIL 1

Michigan's 1935 fire force, consisting of approximately 135 towermen and 135 wardens, will go on duty in the forest fire zone of the state between April 1 and April 15.

The men were selected by competitive civil service examinations conducted at the respective district Conservation headquarters offices in the fire zone of the state during February.

A season of fire hazards usually develops in certain parts of the fire zone each spring during April and following the late thaws. The Department anticipates this condition in assigning the towermen and wardens to duty during the first half of the month.

It is planned by the Field Administration Division of the Department of Conservation to increase the effectiveness of its fire force during 1935 by the use of airplanes on days of great fire hazards or poor visibility. Aerial patrol of forest land being protected against forest fire proved of value last year, the Field Administration Division reports.

WHICH IS MORE LOGICAL?

Dr. Voelker, state superintendent of schools, says that he wants $25,000,000 from the state for the support of the schools and is making his canvass for office as a candidate on the Democrat party ticket on that basis. Governor Fitzgerald and the Republican party say that they will pledge sufficient money to the schools to keep them open no matter what the sum necessary amounts to. If it will take $25,000,000 the schools will get that sum; if it is necessary to appropriate $35,000,000 the schools will get it; on the other hand if $18,000,000 or $20,000,000 is all that is necessary the schools will get it. Which, kind reader, is the more logical of these two positions?—Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

Washington Notes And Comments

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff, Tenth Michigan District)

As there is a growing interest in the Townsend old age pension plan, I wish to make the following observations which I trust will be accepted as coming from one who is, and has for many years, been interested in the welfare of our aged people, and who is desirous of rendering real and substantial aid to them, as well as to all other classes of our citizens.

It is well to bear in mind that the proponents of the Townsend plan propose to raise $2,000,000,000 per month through what they term a "transactions" tax. This tax is in reality another sales tax and must eventually be paid in full by the man or woman who buys the faithful product. It means, in effect, a pyramided sales tax, and, according to the economists, this tax, if collected would, because of the pyramiding of the tax, cost the ultimate consumer 20 per cent, or more, on his or her purchases.

The proponents of this plan believe that if put into effect, it would increase the collective purchasing power of our people by the amount paid the beneficiaries of the plan. This, of course, is not true. It is only necessary to look about us to know that those with whom we daily come in contact are in the same financial status as 95 per cent of our people and to appreciate that they all find it exceedingly difficult to make both ends meet under present conditions with the limited income at their disposal. They are compelled to spend practically every cent of their income to meet their necessary expenses.

If this 20 per cent tax were collected and paid to the proposed beneficiaries, it would not increase the purchasing power of our people; it would simply transfer the existing purchasing power from those who earn the money that goes into the channels of trade, to those who do not earn it. In other words, if this tax were collected, it would take this amount of money, at least to the extent of 95 per cent, from those who, if they were permitted to keep it, would themselves spend it for the things necessary for their existence. The plan would not increase the purchasing power of the people, it would simply transfer it from the class least able to spare it, to another class. This being true, it means, of course, that putting the Townsend plan into effect would bring suffering and poverty upon our people to a degree heretofore unknown.

If we were to take an additional 20 cents from every dollar spent by already overtaxed, distressed citizens, it would immediately remove them from the number of those who, under more favorable conditions, contribute to the economic uplift of the nation. They could no longer purchase other than the most meagre necessities of life and millions of them could not even do that. Comforts, luxuries would be unknown to them. Factories producing these things would necessarily be compelled to at least partially close, more millions would lose their jobs, and join the ranks of those millions now unemployed and on the welfare lists, and economic chaos would be upon us.

In addition to the 20 per cent burden of the proposed transactions tax, there would still be the burden of the existing, increasing taxes (another name for sales taxes), which amount in certain instances to 15 per cent and which account in large measure for the present increase in the cost of living. The 3 per cent Michigan sales tax would still be collected, as well as all other taxes, direct and indirect, under which our people are now struggling. The total of all these taxes makes a burden greater than any people could bear.

I am, and have for many years been fighting for the enactment of Federal old age pension legislation under which the Federal Government would assume, with the States, the expense of paying old age pensions, adequate to make our aged people independent of poor houses and charity, and am happy in the thought that during the present Congress our hopes may be realized.

The Name "Raven"

The name raven is now generally believed to have its source in the ancient verb to raven, tear, despoil, thus identifying this ominous bird with the scenes of battle, rapine and death with which our ancestors were sadly familiar not so many centuries ago.

Notice To Car Owners

After March 15, 1935, all cars used on the public roads must have 1935 license plates on. Any person driving on the public roads without proper license plates will be prosecuted.

Frank Bennett, Sheriff.

Week At Lansing

(By FRANK D. BROWN, Special Correspondent)

Senator Leon D. Case of Water-vliet, democratic floor leader of the upper house, headed an unsuccessful attempt this week to block passage of an administration bill which is designed to consolidate all welfare and relief agencies in the state. The threat that Washington authorities might not approve of the new relief set-up was made by the senator who intimated that as a consequence of the enactment of the bill, the federal emergency relief administrator, Harry Hopkins might find it necessary to create his own organization entirely independent of state influence.

On the other hand, Senator Case, speaking with authority, told the senate that if the present relief organization should be maintained without alteration and Gov. Fitzgerald should decide to appoint Grover C. Dillman, former state highway commissioner and now state welfare director, as the third member of the three-man commission such an arrangement would be most acceptable to Mr. Hopkins.

In this measure the democrats see a serious threat to the welfare machinery as constructed under Gov. Comstock's guidance. In the House this bill will likely come in for considerable sharp-shooting but Speaker George Schroeder (D) informs your correspondent that he has received no word from Washington that the bill should be defeated. This discounts somewhat Senator Case's suggestion that the federal administration is liable to look with displeasure upon such a reorganization.

The legislature has at last shown some inclination to get down to business. The week has seen both houses working overtime (if such a thing could be true) and bills of more or less importance have begun to flow out of committees as a means of bringing the session to a close in as brief a time as possible. Many important administration bills and the budget bills yet remain to be introduced.

Gov. Fitzgerald's insistence that the sessions get out of Lansing by the end of the month has weakened. A resolution setting the date of adjournment at March 31 has gone "by the boards" for the simple reason that such a thing would be impossible. Both houses are pretty well agreed that if the governor gets rid of them by the middle or the end of April he should be well satisfied.

The patronage squabble in the senate is getting to be a joke. A lot of the so-called insurgent opposition to the governor has been mythical. It should not be understood, however, that all this smoke was created without some fire. Much of the seriousness attached to it has been imaginary though. There has at no time been any concerted effort made to destroy the Fitzgerald program and in the end said program will not suffer by the desire of some senate members to obtain jobs for their constituents.

Your correspondent is not willing to accept the patronage rife in the serious light that many would place it. It is just one of those things that occurs every legislative session when 132 divergent personalities get together upon business upon a common impression that he has been chosen to guide the destinies of state. A mistaken idea, of course, but a situation of this kind has always existed and has been at the root of much delay and expense.

The first test of the newly acquired republican strength in the House occurred this week and fell far short of its goal. Discussion in the republican ranks has made of the recent special elections but empty victories. An attempt to reorganize the rules and resolutions committee and place republican members in control was thwarted when Reps. Earl McNitt of Cadillac, William Green of Hillman, and Henry Douville of Alpena, all republicans, jumped the reservation and voted with the democrats to defeat the proposal. All three, it is understood, are working close to Murray D. VanWagoner, democratic highway commissioner, which facts also spells the doom of the governor's proposal to reorganize the highway department and make the commissioner an appointive rather than an elective office. The three bolting republicans are also piqued at their failure to secure jobs for members of the family circle and have taken this course to force through their demands.

Technically, the republicans have a majority in the House. Rep. William A. Ward (R) of Grand Traverse, who happens to be the 51st and deciding vote, has been brought to Lansing and is being held in readiness at one of the hotels for the day when it becomes necessary to have his vote. Rep. Ward, as stated last week, has been incapacitated since early last fall but has sufficiently recovered to be taken to his seat to meet important roll calls.

Gov. Fitzgerald disclosed to the writer a few days ago that he is not permitting these patronage squabbles to "get him down." "My task is to serve the people of Michigan to the very best of my ability. If I allow this wrangling over jobs to transcend the welfare of our four million people, I shall have failed in my obligation to them," he said.

Of state-wide significance is a bill passed by the House which provides for a uniform system of text books in the public schools. The Thatcher bill appropriating $25,000,000 in state aid for public schools has been favorably reported to the floor of the House ways and means committee. It continues an appropriation voted two years ago but now stipulates that no district shall receive aid unless it has levied a tax of at least two mills upon its local property for schools to supplement the state aid.

Regardless of the governor's opposition to the levying of any new taxes, the House taxation committee has reported out the Holbeck income tax bill which provides for a flat one and one-half percent levy. Single persons would be allowed an exemption of $1,000 and married persons, $2,000 with $300 for each dependent. The revenue to be derived from the tax would be used to finance old age pensions and augment state school aid.

Should this measure be successful, Holbeck income tax bill which profited in both houses it will be vetoed by the governor.

The bill to appropriate $2,000,000 for advertising the outdoor advantages of the state for the purpose of attracting tourists was passed by a comfortable margin in the senate and sent to the house. The measure specifies that each of the four state tourist agencies raise a sum equal to one-fourth the sum allocated to it for advertising by the state. One hundred thousand dollars would be appropriated for each of the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1935 and 1936. Eighty percent of the money would be divided equally among the four tourist bureaus and the balance expended under their joint supervision.

BETTER RURAL ROADS

This is the season of the year when it becomes most apparent that great strides are still to be made in the improvement of farm to market roads—roads that mean much to every merchant and resident in a community where farming is the principal business.

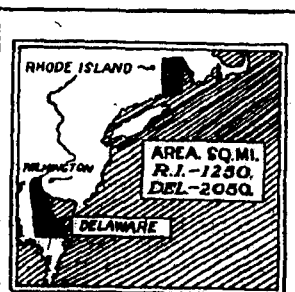

While highways of which we are justly proud have been constructed to connect metropolitan centers, every spring brings unpleasant reminders that country roads for the most part are still of the type that become rutted and muddy—probably impassable at times—for several days or weeks each spring, depending on the season. Increased use of trucks to transport farm produce makes the need for better roads more pressing.

Fortunately, progress in the science of road building brings the vision of a complete network of hard-surfaced rural roads within the realm of possibilities. Stable all-weather roads developed through soil studies by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and constructed by the proper mixture of local materials and calcium chloride, are inexpensive in first cost and greatly reduce the cost of maintenance.

Hundreds of miles of such roads have already been constructed principally in Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota and Ohio, and the method of construction is rapidly becoming standardized.

As with every other community improvement project, the goal cannot be reached at once. But "Better Rural Roads" is an aim which every civic and farm organization should include in its program for community improvement, and is an objective which should have the support of every resident of a rural community or village. Safe, hard surfaced rural roads are a definite business asset to every community.

News Review Of World Events

"WEEKLY NEWS REVIEW" KEEPS YOU INFORMED

The descriptive terms "hick" and "rube" as applied to small town and country folk never did attain the status of good English. Even if they had, the dictionaries today would mark them "obsolete," because they no longer even faintly describe the people living on farms and in the smaller communities.

Today these people are just as up to date as their "sophisticated" city cousins. They drive the same kind of automobiles, see the same movies, their sons and daughters go to the same colleges, they wear the same style of clothes, and except that the general average of intelligence is just a little higher in the smaller communities and on the farms there is no discernible difference between our people and the city dwellers.

Perhaps at one time many readers of this paper were interested only in the affairs of their immediate neighborhood. That is entirely changed today. The people we serve are just as anxious to get the news of the world, just as eager to keep pace with the march of events as are the people living in the metropolis.

It is the duty of this paper to bring to our readers that kind of news, and because of this we publish each week the "News Review," written by Edward W. Pickard, famous news commentator. It is more than news. It is a condensed, editorial interpretation of the events that are making world history. The information it contains offers a real foundation for intelligent discussion of current events in the world because it is the best feature of its kind that comes to American readers from any source.

Pickard is recognized as one of the outstanding newspaper observers of the nation. His background of many years of experience, his broad education, and his many contacts with men of affairs in this country and abroad fit him particularly for this task of interpreting the news for you. He writes from the standpoint of an American, telling of events from that viewpoint and of their effect on our country.

It is a feature which is very much worthy of your careful reading each week. You will find in it all that is needed to keep you abreast of the important events both in this country and abroad, and you will be better informed than if you attempted to wade through the largest daily paper.

West Branch-Mt. Pleasant
Mt. Pleasant began their drive toward the championship by taking West Branch at the start, 48-34. This was a good, clean, game with a minimum of fouls and the West Branch men put up a good opposition, but were pretty well outclassed.

C.C.C. 674-Lumberjacks
This tilt was taken by the Lumberjacks, 44-32. Playing in perfect form, and with beautiful teamwork, they succeeded in piling up a lead during the first half that the camp boys found impossible to break, in spite of a spectacular rally and fast playing in the last two frames.

Friday night saw the elimination of the Roscommon Ramblers Grayling Cubs, Lumberjacks, and Alpena, at the hands of Traverse City and Mt. Pleasant.

Kamoiers-Traverse City
This was the first game of the tourney for each of these teams and they were both rating to go. Traverse gained a five point lead in the first frame which kept them ahead by a narrow margin to the finale. This whole tilt was a see-saw, with no one betting on the winners until the last bell had rung. The second quarter saw a scoring spurt on the part of the Ramblers which gained them only one point, Traverse City making 7 while they made 8. The third frame was a repetition of the second, only with the advantage reversed, and Traverse gaining the point to send them into the last eight minutes with their same five point lead, which the Ramblers managed to cut to three before the bell rang, to end the game against them, 27-24.

Cubs-Alpena
This clash eliminated the Cubs, 25-24, in spite of a 6 point lead gained by them in the first eight minutes of play, at which time the records showed 7-2 in their favor. After this, the Alpena put in a steady drive to gain scores, slowly but surely, picking up one point by the half, three by the third quarter, and tying at 24 all in the last frame, to go on to a 24-25 victory in the overtime period.

Mt. Pleasant-Lumberjacks
Again the Grayling team gained the lead at the start, 7-4, only to lose the second frame 7-9, still leaving them ahead 13-14 at the half. The third quarter saw the Cubs one down, 21-22, after which they wilted before the vicious Mt. Pleasant attack, to end up seven down at 30-23.

Alpena-Traverse City
This final elimination was a tough spot for both contestants. Played at midnight, with both teams having gone through the mill once before in the evening, it showed the stuff the boys were made of. In spite of the adverse conditions, this was as lively a game as the meet contained.

This was another even-up game with spectacular, second-wind rallies by both teams in the last half. The first half saw Traverse six down at 13-19. The third frame saw the most spectacular rally of the whole contest, with Traverse gaining 15 points for a nine count lead. In their turn, Alpena rallied in the last frame, taking 16 to their opponents 9, losing out 39-37.

Saturday Finals
The first game on the program for the play-off night was an interesting tilt between the Frederic and Grayling girls teams. In spite of our greater size with corresponding advantage of more material, Grayling was unable to put out a girls team that could touch our little sisters on the north, and the game was overwhelmingly theirs from start to finish with a last count of 30-9 in their favor.

Exhibition Meet.

The Alpena team that was supposed to show up for the play-off with the Lumberjacks for third place, did not make their appearance, and to fill the gap a pick-up team to represent the Cubs and Jacks, played a good exhibition game, the Cubs taking the long count of 36-30, thru the stellar work of Brown, their diminutive forward. Talk about the Celtics, not one of their players had it on Tom Brown that night.

Mt. Pleasant-Traverse City
The final play-off for the northern Michigan championship lay between Mt. Pleasant and Traverse City, and both teams took the floor at 10:30 o'clock.

For the first three quarters the clean-cut Traverse lads held their own, but having played eight games in four days the boys were pretty well fagged out and the last minutes of the last quarter saw the Mt. Pleasant team forge ahead, the final score being 40-28. McCullum and Freeman were the big guns for Mt. Pleasant, with Wahal the big scorer for the Traverse quintet.

The defensive work of the two former all-state interscholastic guards on the Traverse team was by far the best guard work witnessed at this gym in some time.

Spring is here today, and with this final round, King, Winter's

Snow Plows Liberate Stalled Trains

FOUR rotary snow plows were at work on Cumbres Pass, Colo., 10,015 feet above sea level, clearing the way for three Denver and Rio Grande Western trains barricaded by immense snow drifts. Eighteen passengers were marooned in the cars. High biting winds, icy trucks, steep grades, all made it exceptionally difficult to clear the way. It took 72 hours to liberate the trains.

popular indoor sport is ushered out of Grayling, uniforms are packed away and we're left with our memories, win, lose, or draw. It was a lot of fun and we are waiting for another season. Here's to you, our greatest sport, "Until we meet again."
